Summer Amusements Make Preparations to Sing Their Swan Song

One More Week and the Regular Season Will Be On in All But Two Local Theaters.

The record of having played first class vaudeville in Washington fiftytwo weeks in the year will have been made by the Keith management with this week's bill which is headed by Stella Mayhew and Billee Taylor. At the Gayety another recordbreaker will be exhibited, the Behman show with Lew Kelly, which ran four continuous months at the Columbia Theater in New York. Announcement is made that the reopening of Poli's has been postponed until next week because of a longer list of improvements than was first contemplated.

At the Columbia Marguerite Clark will be shown in a series photoplay, "Helene of the North," the first half of the week. Al White's "The Joys of Kidland," a juvenile review, leads the Cosmos attractions and at the picture houses an assortment of well-known stage stars and photoplayers will be seen in a wide variety of plays.

B. F. KEITH'S

The present week marks a full year that the B. F. Keith Theater has been open, making new attendance records and setting high vaudeville standards in the Nation's Capital. In honor of the event the management has assembled a program of unusual features, the headline honors going to Stella Mayhew, assisted by Billie Taylor, and to Joe Jackson, the "European Vagabond."
Miss Mayhew comes direct from a summer run at the Keith New York Palace. Last season she starred in "High Jinks"

Joe Jackson headed the list of freak cycle comedians in Europe and he soon won high rank here. His nondescript wheel is excruciatingly funny in its cycling phases.
Another special offering will be Carl

Another special offering will be Carl Byal, former principal tenor with Evans' Honey Boy Minstreis, and Dora Early. "The Girl From Old Kentucky." Manager William A. Brady presents Clarence Oliver and Georgie Olp, who will be seen in "The Wall Betwean." Ann Suter, announced as a "comedienette," will offer a series of character sonus and pranks. Others in the bill will be Eddie Emerson and Jerry Baldwin, the jugglers; the Four Danubes, and the Pathe news pictorial.

An added attraction will be Francis

An added attraction will be Francis Bent, former acting mayor of New York city, who will present a pictorial trave-logue on Mexico and South America at every performance.

GAYETY.

Direct from Broadway, where it was the attraction for sixteen weeks at the Columbia Theater, Jack Singer's Behman show, headed by Lew Kelly, is announced as the attraction at the Gayety Theater this week. The fact that it played on Broadway for four months is a record in itself, but when one consid ers that the company gave two performances daily to practically capacity audiences in face of opposition from a number of regular attractions that included "Chin Chin." with Montgomery and Stone, the Ziegfeld "Follies" and "The Passing Show of 1915" some idea is obtained of the feat performed by the burlesque company.

No change has been made in the cast

No change has been made in the cast for the road tour. The entertainment will consist of a one-act burlesque entitled "The Dope's Legacy," a revue of all the stage stars of the day during which James Tenbrooke will appear as Caruso, Elleen Sheridan as Nora Bayes. Martelle as Julian Eltinge, Ameta Pynes as Fritzi Scheff, and Harry Van as Charlie Chaplin, and a one-act travesty on Bronson Howard's "Shenandoah."

In addition to Lew Kelly the cast indes Lon Hascall. cludes Lon Hascall, Elleen Sheridan, Harry La Coste, Hedwig von Mueller, Harry Van, James Tenbrooke, Ameta Pynes and a big chorus.

COLUMBIA.

Marguerite Clark, who has scored such a great success as a photoplayer under the management of Daniel Frohman, will be seen on the screen of the Columbia Theater the first four days of this week, commencing this afternoon at 3 o'clock in "Helene of the North." at 3 o'clock in "Helene of the North." The play tells in an original manner of
